

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A resin coating method for applying resin to a predetermined region of a wiring board includes the steps of imaging an external appearance of the resin extruded from a resin application device; and 5 automatically adjusting an amount of the resin extruded from the resin application device based on the external appearance of the resin obtained in the imaging step.

0811605.032001